

Art 15 Black to White Disparity

- As shown in the chart above, while rates per thousand and the % racial disparity have fluctuated dramatically over time, the Black/African American rate per thousand has been persistently higher than the White rate per thousand.
- Other contextual factors should be explored further for better understanding of these fluctuations (e.g. trends in force shaping and admin separations).